

Edgewood College

Professional Licensure Disclosure

Degree programs at Edgewood College that are intended to result in professional licensure and certification are designed to meet the educational requirements for the state of Wisconsin.

Per the U.S. Department of Education regulation 34 CFR 668.43, we are obligated to disclose whether Edgewood's programs will meet the educational requirements for professional licensure or certification in any of the U.S. states or territories. The information below reflects, to the best of our knowledge, accurate information about each of our licensing programs.

The curricula for programs leading to licensure at Edgewood College are designed to meet the licensure/certification requirements in the state of Wisconsin and to prepare students to apply for licensure examinations and/or certification. Each state and territory may have different professional licensure and certification requirements. Examples of other licensure requirements include professional examinations, background checks, years of work experience, fingerprinting, etc. Students who intend to return or move to any state other than Wisconsin need to review the professional licensure disclosures pertaining to their program and consult with the state professional licensing board. The state professional licensing boards make the ultimate decision as to whether an individual will be eligible to sit for licensure based on the rules and regulations in place at the time the individual submits their application for licensure.

Accounting

Per the U.S. Department of Education Regulation 34 CFR 668.43, we have determined that students completing Edgewood College's undergraduate accounting degree programs have the opportunity to take the 30 additional credits necessary to sit for the CPA (Certified Public Accountant) exam, and our

MS Accountancy program prepares students to sit for the CPA exam. Students who intend to return or move to any state other than Wisconsin need to review the professional licensure disclosures pertaining to their program and consult with the state professional licensing board.

This information is accurate as of July 1, 2021.

Education

Per the U.S. Department of Education Regulation 34 CFR 668.43, we have determined that the bachelor's programs meet the educational requirements to become a licensed teacher in the state of Wisconsin and in IL, CO, CT, DE, HI, IN, IA, KS (secondary), LA, MA, MI, MN, MO, MT, NE, NY, NC, PA, RI, TN, TX, VT, WA, WV, and WY.

Undergraduate Education

Although Wisconsin maintains high standards for our teacher education programs, there is not simple reciprocity between Wisconsin and all other states. Each state sets their own requirements for teacher licensure, but will generally allow for Wisconsin teaching and administrator licenses to be transferred. Specific requirements are left to each state's department of education, which are linked below.

Graduate Education

The Graduate programs in Education are offered within the context of a traditional liberal arts education framework. We strongly support our founding Dominican values of truth, compassion, justice, partnership, and community. These values are more important than ever in preparing the educators of our children and youth, and are woven throughout our course and program offerings. It truly is an incredible responsibility to be involved in the process of teaching and learning. There is no other work that has such a profound possibility to impact society.

For current or aspiring educators seeking additional degrees or licenses we offer a variety of programs that are designed to meet the needs of the working professional. Many programs are offered both online and in-the-classroom. Courses in License Certification programs can be applied toward completion of a Master of Arts in Education.

License Certification:

- Bilingual Education
- Educational Leadership
- ESL Education
- Reading Teacher/Reading Specialist
- Superintendent
- Special Education
- Accelerated Secondary Program
- Advanced Certification Elementary

Graduate Educational Leadership

Educational leaders need to be responsive to the changing demographics of the schools and communities. The Educational Leadership program at Edgewood College is designed for current educators who want to become transformational leaders and make an impact in their communities. Students will explore educational inequities, utilize social justice frameworks, and develop equity analysis plans as part of their coursework.

The Edgewood College graduate program in Educational Leadership is designed for educators interested in acquiring certification for licensure in the following areas of school leadership:

- Director of Instruction (DPI #10)
- Director of Special Education and Pupil Services (DPI #80)
- Principalship (DPI #51)

Licensure coursework meets the goals and standards of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

Nursing

Per the U.S. Department of Education Regulation 34 CFR 668.43, we have determined that students successfully completing Edgewood College's undergraduate nursing program must sit for the NCLEX exam, and upon successful passing of the NCLEX exam are professionally licensed as an RN in all 50 states.

Edgewood College's graduate nursing programs prepare students to sit for national certification exams which align with Wisconsin and all other states' requirements. For professional licensure, Edgewood College meets the full expectations of the Wisconsin DSPS for degree fulfillment for our APNP students:

Pre-Credential Education Information

Must be certified by a national certifying body approved by the Board as a nurse practitioner, certified nurse-midwife, certified registered nurse anesthetist or clinical nurse specialist.

For applicants who receive national certification as a nurse practitioner, certified nurse-midwife, certified registered nurse anesthetist or clinical nurse specialist after July 1, 1998, the registered nurse must hold a master's or doctoral degree in nursing or a related health field granted by a college or university accredited by a regional accrediting agency approved by the board of education in the state in which the college or university is located.

Because each state's requirements vary regarding APNP licensure, to earn an APNP license outside of WI, we urge you to contact your state's Board of Nursing.

Marriage and Family Therapy

Edgewood College's Master of Science degree in Marriage and Family Therapy is a 48-credit program of study. Included is a 12-month internship with a minimum of 500 clinical hours (300 direct and 200 ancillary) with individuals, couples, and families plus 100 hours of relational/systemic supervision. Students work with a variety of clients from the community, including families experiencing multiple systemic challenges. The program's basic orientation is the "General Systems" paradigm within which students are exposed to the structural, strategic, and systemic approaches, in addition to the other major modalities of the discipline. Trainees are encouraged to select and specialize in an approach that best fits their own clinical style. The program emphasizes a broad blend of theoretical and therapeutic approaches, with a primary goal of clinical excellence in training in the field of marriage and family therapy. The program is based on national and state standards for course and clinical content and will prepare students to apply for credentialing in Wisconsin as licensed marriage and family therapists.
